ENGLEWOOD, Colo., Dec. 22 /PRNewswire/ -- Medical Dynamics, Inc. (OTC Bulletin Board: MEDY), a nationwide provider of dental practice management software and integrated technology solutions, today announced it has executed an amendment to the merger agreement with InfoCure Corporation by which InfoCure will acquire all outstanding Medical Dynamics common stock in exchange for InfoCure common stock and PracticeWorks common and preferred stock. The merger is expected to be completed after the completion of InfoCure's proposed spinoff of its PracticeWorks division.

Based on the amended and restated merger agreement, upon completion of the merger and the proposed spinoff, one current share of Medical Dynamics common stock will convert to .06873 share of InfoCure common stock, .017183 shares of PracticeWorks common stock and .07558 shares of a series of PracticeWorks 6% convertible preferred stock, which will have a liquidation preference of $5.44 per share, and a 6% dividend. The shares of PracticeWorks preferred stock will be convertible into 1.5% of PracticeWorks common stock outstanding calculated on a fully-diluted basis. Persons holding 100 or fewer shares of Medical Dynamics common stock will receive cash at the rate of $.75 per share. Persons holding options and warrants to acquire Medical Dynamics common stock prior to the merger will be entitled to PracticeWorks common stock. The merger is also subject to approval by Medical Dynamics shareholders at a meeting Medical Dynamics expects to hold in late March or early April 2001. The proxy statement will be included as part of a Form S-4 registration statement to be filed by InfoCure and PracticeWorks.

This agreement amends and restates the merger agreement between InfoCure and Medical Dynamics originally entered into on December 21, 1999 and subsequently amended on April 10, June 21, October 10, and October 30, 2000.

Earlier this year, InfoCure announced a proposed spin-off of its PracticeWorks operating division to its shareholders. PracticeWorks expects to be an independent public company and will apply for listing on the Nasdaq National Market. After the spin-off, InfoCure expects to change its name to VitalWorks, and will concentrate its operations on management information technology and e-health services exclusively for medical practices, including the delivery of its previously announced ASP products.

Oralis.com Launches First Comprehensive eCommerce Site For Ordering Dental Supplies

PR Newswire; New York; Oct 18, 1999;

Dateline: Washington

Abstract:

SEATTLE, Oct. 18 /PRNewswire/ -- Oralis.com(TM), the front- running business-to-business eCommerce supplier serving the oral healthcare industry, today announced the launch of its Web site: www.oralis.com. Oralis.com eliminates traditional cumbersome paper- catalog ordering methods involving multiple vendors by offering oral healthcare practitioners (OHPs) such as dentists and orthodontists a single, easy-to-use, secure Internet-based source for ordering all their dental supplies. Among other things, OHPs can dramatically improve office productivity, eliminate ordering hassles, reduce costs, and decrease ordering times by up to 90%. For manufacturers and other suppliers of oral healthcare products and services, Oralis.com provides a lower cost channel to reach OHPs, and a more robust, real-time marketing capability to improve research and development efforts, shorten ordering cycles, streamline supply chain transactions, and reduce inventory levels.

"Our core business is to provide significant productivity improvement to dental offices and their suppliers," states Nate Short, Oralis.com Chairman and Vice President of Sales and Marketing. "In less than five years the backbone of the office will all be run on the Internet (ordering, scheduling, claims processing, diagnosis and treatment planning, payroll and continuing education). We're leading this change."

Oralis.com's Web site offers over 20,000 supplies from leading manufacturers at some of the industry's lowest prices. The site's signature Quicklist functionality, advanced search and browse capabilities and ToothHound service enable members to process orders within literally seconds so they can quickly return to serving patients.

The Customer Care Center is the cornerstone of the company's operations and is staffed by experienced Dental Assistants who are equipped with real-time account information and advanced technologies to more proactively and effectively answer member inquiries.

Members join for free and can order any time of the day, seven days a week from any place with Internet access. Additional membership perks include free Internet access through Oralis.com's partnership with Concentric Network, eligibility for FirstUSA's prestigious Platinum Visa card to pay for online orders, and access to Payroll Online payroll management services. Oralis.com plans to unveil more services in the coming months.

"The whole essence of business-to-business eCommerce is about driving inefficiencies out of the supply chain," states Pierre Gallant, Oralis.com President and Chief Executive Officer. "We enhance and facilitate the information flows between trading partners to create win-win situations so that every entity benefits, including patients who ultimately receive improved care."

American Dental Association Subsidiary Exclusively Endorses ENVOYnet(TM) For Internet Dental Transactions

PR Newswire; New York; Aug 18, 1999;

Dateline: North Carolina, Tennessee

Abstract:

RESEARCH TRIANGLE PARK, N.C., Aug. 18 /PRNewswire/ -- The ADA Electronic Commerce Co. (ADA ECCo), a subsidiary of the American Dental Association, is exclusively endorsing ENVOYnet(TM), an Internet healthcare transactions system created by ENVOY Corporation, to process dental health insurance transactions over the Internet, Quintiles Transnational Corp. (Nasdaq: QTRN) announced today.

ENVOY Corporation, the leader in electronic transaction processing for the healthcare industry and a subsidiary of Quintiles Transnational, soon will enhance ENVOYnet to handle a variety of dental transactions that are currently processed by mail, phone or traditional electronic data interchange. In 1998 ENVOY processed 28 million electronic dental transactions in the United States, more than 70 percent of the 48.5 million total dental transactions processed electronically.

"ENVOY and Quintiles Transnational continue to expand the capabilities of our global QUINTERNET(TM) technology platform to deliver Internet-based solutions to a diverse healthcare customer base," said Steve Simpson, Chief Operating Officer of ENVOY Corporation. "ENVOYnet is a powerful Internet application designed to address our customers' needs in the medical community and, now, in the dental community as well. ENVOY is very proud of its association with ADA ECCo, and we look forward to continuing a long-term relationship benefiting the thousands of dental providers eager to utilize our electronic data interchange (EDI) Internet capabilities."

ENVOYnet Offerings to the Dental Provider Community

RESEARCH TRIANGLE PARK, N.C., Aug. 18 /PRNewswire/ -- The ADA Electronic Commerce Co. (ADA ECCo), a subsidiary of the American Dental Association, is exclusively endorsing ENVOYnet(TM), an Internet healthcare transactions system created by ENVOY Corporation, to process dental health insurance transactions over the Internet, Quintiles Transnational Corp. (Nasdaq: QTRN) announced today.

ENVOYnet will for the first time allow dental offices to process eligibility inquiries in real time, providing significant advantages in speed and efficiency when compared with the traditional method of obtaining eligibility information by phone.

ENVOY Corporation, the leader in electronic transaction processing for the healthcare industry and a subsidiary of Quintiles Transnational, soon will enhance ENVOYnet to handle a variety of dental transactions that are currently processed by mail, phone or traditional electronic data interchange. In 1998 ENVOY processed 28 million electronic dental transactions in the United States, more than 70 percent of the 48.5 million total dental transactions processed electronically.

Additionally, ENVOY has recently reached agreements with seven dental practice management system companies to provide ENVOYnet to their respective dental providers. ENVOY's partner companies include ACE Dental Software, Computer Age Dentist, Inc., DSN Software, Dentsply InfoSoft, Infologic, Inc., Softech, Inc., and Unident, LLC.

"ENVOY and Quintiles Transnational continue to expand the capabilities of our global QUINTERNET(TM) technology platform to deliver Internet-based solutions to a diverse healthcare customer base," said Steve Simpson, Chief Operating Officer of ENVOY Corporation. "ENVOYnet is a powerful Internet application designed to address our customers' needs in the medical community and, now, in the dental community as well. ENVOY is very proud of its association with ADA ECCo, and we look forward to continuing a long-term relationship benefiting the thousands of dental providers eager to utilize our electronic data interchange (EDI) Internet capabilities."

Robert Owen, Chief Executive Officer of ADA ECCo, said: "ENVOYnet represents a major step forward in communicating dental information and is, we believe, the future of dental transactions. For the first time, dental offices will begin to have access to real-time eligibility."

ADA ECCo's exclusive endorsement of ENVOYnet for Internet dental transactions is part of its mission to help educate American Dental Association members about electronic commerce and endorse premier services and vendors to assist in the transition to new business practices.
